Art Unit: 1711

Applicant's arguments filed 3-23-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim Objections

Claim 14 inclusively depends from cancelled claims 4 and 5. Examiner recommends the language "in any of the preceding claims".

The following rejections are set forth new or maintained hereinbelow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 6-14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bleys (5,521,226).

Bleys discloses preparations of flexible polyurethanes prepared at isocyanate indexes as claimed isocyanates of blended polyisocyanates and blended polyols having weight, functionality, and number values as well as oxyalkylene contents as claimed, water, and other additives (see the entire document).

Bleys differs from applicants' claims in that it does not disclose the use of a high amounts of a high EO polyol. However, Bleys discloses (see column 1 lines 16-24) motivation for variation in amounts of high EO polyols for the purpose of control of reactivities and open cell contents and discloses (see column 1 lines 55-65) selectability of its second polyol to be inclusive of the high EO polyols of applicants' claims. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have utilized elevated amounts of high EO content within the teachings of Bleys for the purpose of modifying reactivities and physical properties in order to arrive at the products and processes of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results. Further, it has long been held that where the general conditions of the claims are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimal or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233; In re Reese 129 USPQ 402. Similarly, it has been held that discovering the optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272,205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Applicants offer no suitable showing of unexpected results which overcome the instantly held position of obviousness.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-3, 6-14 and 16 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 and 12-14 of copending Application No. 10/242,741. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims differ in a manner which would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art with the variability of rigid to flexible foams being within the skill of the ordinary practitioner in the art.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3, 6-14, and 16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 1711

With regards to the Double Patenting rejection, examiner's position is maintained as set forth before, and no further comments are seen to be necessary in response to applicants' arguments.
